

FRANK & WALTERS

NATION MOVED BY JON'S LATE LATE CHAT: PAGE 9

THE IRISH SUN ON SUNDAY

Sunday, May 26 2019

€1.20 (£1.20 NI) thesun.ie

FREE INSIDE

THE SOPHIE FILES WORLD EXCLUSIVE

CHILLING EVIDENCE

Bloody block where body was found and smear on back door of home

BLUDGEONED TO DEATH

By OWEN CONLON

TRAGIC Sophie Toscan du Plantier was chased by her killer then beaten to death in a brutal unplanned murder, Ian Bailey's trial will hear.

The Irish Sun on Sunday today reveals never before seen images of the crime scene in Schull, Co Cork. At his trial in Paris this week, authorities will claim Bailey, 61, left, had time to slip away from the home he shared with Jules Thomas and kill Sophie, 36, in December 1996 – before returning undetected.

Bailey called the case a "show trial" and denies any role in the murder. His lawyer insisted he has been "entirely exonerated" in Ireland.

- Photos reveal Du Plantier's horror end
- Bailey denies murder, slams 'show trial'

FULL STORY: PAGES 4,5,6&7