CORONAVIRUS PANDEMIC

These are the faces of some of the Irish victims who died from Covid-19. They were real people, not just numbers...

GOD BLESS THEM ALL..

BY NEIL LESLIE, CIARA PHELAN and TREVOR QUINN
THIS is the heartbreaking trail of destruction left by Covid-19 - victims whose deaths have torn families apart across Ireland.
The human cost of the virus is rising. Another 41 people were reported to have died yesterday - a grim record - with 11,479 now infected.
Behind each of these pictures is a story of intense but silent grief as families cannot say a proper goodbye to loved ones.
Kelly Reilly's dad Paddy, 57, lost his battle for life in an intensive care unit in Kilkenny on Easter Monday.
She said: "I told him I loved him so much, that I'll never forget him and I thanked him for being a great father."
A total of 406 people have now lost their lives in the Republic and 134 in the North.
